vices, Foreign and Domestic.

BY THE HONOURABLE
JOHN PENN, Esquire,
Governor and Commander in Chief of the Province of Pennsylvania, and Counties of New-Castle, Kent and Sussex, on Delaware.

A PROCLAMATION.
WHEREAS it appears, by sundry Affidavits, taken before one of the Judges of the Province of New-Jersey, that JOSEPH RICHARDSON, late of the County of Philadelphia, and a certain SAMUEL FORD, stand charged with feloniously forging and counterfeiting the Bills of Credit of this Province, and passing the same, to the great Injury of His Majesty's liege Subjects. AND WHEREAS the Endeavours hitherto used for apprehending them have been ineffectual, and it is highly expedient, for the Discouragement of such pernicious and atrocious Crimes, that the said Joseph Richardson, and Samuel Ford, should be brought to condign and exemplary Punishment; I HAVE therefore thought fit, with the Advice of the Council, to issue this my Proclamation, hereby promising and engaging, that the public Reward of THREE HUNDRED POUNDS, shall be paid to any Person or Persons, who shall apprehend the said Joseph Richardson, and safely deliver him to the Sheriff of the City and County of Philadelphia, in the Goal of the said County; and also, that the like Reward of THREE HUNDRED POUNDS, shall be paid to any Person or Persons, who shall apprehend the said Samuel Ford, and deliver him to the said Sheriff, in the same Goal. AND I DO hereby strictly charge, enjoin and require all Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Constables, and all other His Majesty's faithful and liege Subjects within my Government, to make diligent Search and Enquiry after the said Joseph Richardson, and Samuel Ford, and to use their utmost Endeavours to apprehend and secure them, so that they may be brought to Justice.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the said Province of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, on the Fourth Day of October, in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Seventy-three, and in the Thirtieth Year of His Majesty's Reign.

By Captain DEAN, from London, and Captain CHAMBERS, from Bristol, arrived at New-York, we have the following Advice.

VIENNA, August 4.
LETTERS from Belgrade inform us, that the actions between the Russians and Turks were very bloody. When the Russians first came before Silistria, they attacked a large body of Turks who were entrenched, but were with much difficulty driven off. That the Russian General, having learnt that a detachment of 20,000 Turks were coming to their relief, resolved upon a second attack, which the Turks immediately perceiving, they left their camp and trenches, and entered the town of Silistria.
The Russians took possession of the camp and trenches, and battered the town with the Turkish cannon left behind. Mean while the 20,000 Turks arrived, and the Russians kept themselves in their lines, which were four times attacked by the Turks, who were as many times beat off; but they succeeded better the 5th time, when they put the Russians in disorder, who it is said had 10,000 killed on the spot. They retired towards the Danube, leaving behind their baggage, camp, and thirty six pieces of cannon.

Warsaw, August 2. Within these last twelve days we have had no accounts from the Russian army, which, we suppose, has occasioned the report of the Russians being defeated by the Turks; but we are assured, from good authority, that there is not the least ground for this report, nor for that other report of the Russians having repassed the Danube.

Last Saturday sentence was expected to have been passed on the persons accused of being concerned in the plot against his Majesty's life. The hall of justice was crowded with people of all ranks and sexes, when his Majesty unexpectedly appeared, and harranged the Commissioners in a very nervous and moving speech, which drew tears from the whole audience, and is worthy of being recorded, as it shews his religion, humanity and generosity. The following is the substance of his speech: "It is true that a regicide ought never to be pardoned; for as the fate of the whole nation depends upon the Prince, he that makes an attempt upon the Prince, makes an attempt upon the whole nation; but as, during these six years, the Polish nation has been in the utmost confusion, and the greatest misfortune, the supreme authority was the matter of dispute; a confederacy was formed, which blindly bore arms against their King and father, meaning, at the same time, that they were opposing a tyrant; the subjects, following their chiefs for no other reason than to preserve their country and liberty, and being also forced to it, cannot be looked upon but as subjects and foldiers, and therefore pardonable; that the chiefs themselves, some of them led by their mistaken notions, and others by treacherous views, ought to be punished with the utmost severity; but as he himself was the person injured, and the accuser, he insisted that not one of his subjects should suffer for his sake, for he freely forgave them all their black designs against him; but this pardon he does not grant as by royal authority, to shew his power, but he pardons them as a christian, that when he bows his knees before the throne of mercy, he may be able to say, with a clear and un-spotted conscience, 'Forgive my trespasses, as I forgive them that trespass against me.' The passing sentence was postponed, and the King again earnestly requested the Commissioners not only to spare the lives of the criminals, but even to acquit them, as he forgave them all, present or not present. But still we do not know how the matter will end.

From the Danube, July 25. The Grand Visir has opened a new correspondence, under the mediation of the Ministers of England and France, with M. Obreskow, the Russian Minister Plenipotentiary, and proposed to him a third armistice, accompanying his letter with some preliminary articles, which the Porte proposes as the basis of his negotiation. It is affirmed that the Grand Signor has received a courier from the Grand Visir, informing him that his bad state of health had obliged him to appoint a Caimacan to relieve him in the command of the army.

Leghorn, August 2. The report of the Russian army being defeated by the Turks, and 15,000 of them being taken prisoners, on the other side of the Danube, which has appeared in most of the public papers, is entirely false, and probably took its rise from a report spread at Constantinople to appease the people there, of which we have an account in a letter from Constantinople, sent by the Grand Bailiff of Venice, dated July 3, which is as follows:
"The unsuccessful operations of the Ottoman troops, and the advantages gained by the Russians, having been made known, and no victory by the Turks published by the Divan, occasioned great murmuring amongst the people, and the Sultan being suddenly taken ill, the people assembled in a tumultuous manner in all parts of the city, imagining that some more bad news from the army was the occasion of this disorder, and an insurrection was greatly dreaded. To prevent which, and to appease the multitude, the Divan ordered the young Prince Reppin, who is prisoner, to be conveyed through the principal streets to the Three Towers, and declared that the Russians were totally routed, a great number killed, and 15,000 taken prisoners. This pacified the mob in some streets, but in others they grew more outrageous, and cried out, 'The Ottoman Empire is at an End! Fifteen thousand Russians would have been able to destroy the whole Turkish army! It is a lie!' Thus they continued in a riotous manner, till soldiers were sent to disperse them." So far it is from being true that the Turks have defeated the Russians, that they have been defeated four times by them this campaign, and the Russians have gained considerable advantages besides, and only received a check at Silistria, where they lost 2000 men, but the Turks lost double that number.

Thorn, August 6. The Prussian troops which for some time lay before this city have suddenly marched off on a private expedition, said to be to Courland, on an affair of the first and most immediate consequence, so that there are not now, in the whole city and its territories, above 400 of the Prussian military. However, the troops which have marched off are expected back in time, as M. Durachin, his Prussian Majesty's Minister here, has informed the Magistracy, that the King, his master, means to take the city of Thorn under his protection, and in case of any opposition, has plainly intimated that force will be used.

Berlin, August 7. By the motions that have been observed amongst our troops, at different times, within these last eighteen months, and by the warlike preparations which have been carried on through all his Prussian Majesty's dominions during that time, it seems past all doubt that peace will not continue long. All the new troops are ordered into the different fortifications, and the old ones have received orders to march towards the Polish territories.
Magazines are forming in such abundance, that a war of ten years continuance would not consume them; and within this fortnight orders have been given for altering all the soldiers' muskets, to ac-able them to fire more expeditiously, and that their shot may do execution at a greater distance.

Hamburg, August 13. The inhabitants of all the Hanse towns begin to entertain alarming suspicions of the designs of the King of Prussia against this city and Lubeck. The encouragement which he gives to the claim of Count Schomberg on this city is well known, and his intention in so doing is plainly seen through. Already possessed of Dantzig, he wishes to gain this city, and then his plan for becoming a maritime Prince will be completed. The Magistracy of Hamburg and Lubeck have already made application to several Princes for securing of their privileges, and have received a promise from the Danish King, that he will protect them with all his power.

Lower Elbe, August 12. The Emperor of Germany, attended by his best Generals, is daily expected in Poland; and his troops, from every corner of his dominions, are in full march towards the Polish and Turkish territories. His new acquired provinces in Poland are daily fortifying, and his troops there are augmenting every day, and every thing is put in the best posture of defence. The King of Prussia observes the same order, and with 150,000 of the best disciplined troops, seems to be determined to execute his plan; and, in all probability, will take up his next winter's quarters at Constantinople. Several great (according to the old style) powers in Europe are watching every motion of these wise and politic Princes, with the utmost jealousy, and seem very active in their cabinets, to prevent the plan of the three united powers from being carried into execution, both in the south and north, and are preparing to oppose them both by sea and land, so that we may conclude that a general war is very near taking place in Europe.

A humorous politician here remarks how effects vary from their causes, and particularly with respect to the present war. It was begun merely to enable the King of Poland to keep the possession of his throne, and no body imagined that any other power would be concerned in it, yet Prussia and Austria have found means to rob Poland, without controul; and the King of Sweden, finding the great powers busy in dividing the spoil, has made himself arbitrary, contrary to the constitution of that kingdom, and the political system of Europe. The King of Denmark has gained the Grand Duchy of Holstein, to which he never could have pretended, had not the Czarina stood in need of his assistance against the Turks, and was obliged to buy him off for fear of his falling in with some Christian powers, whose interest it may be to oppose her present designs. France has privately received several remittances from Constantinople, and expects far larger, and to be sole arbiter, in case of a general war, though this should rather fall to Great-Britain. Holland, as usual, enriches herself by serving both parties. Thus almost every state in Europe finds interest in a war, which was begun merely to support the King of Poland, while, in all probability, Ponjanisky will be reduced to the condition of Stanislaus, or Theodore, the late King of Corsica.

We are informed by good authority, that his Prussian Majesty has requested the Court of Petersburg to recall Count Golowkin from his commission at Dantzig, as he is determined to send six regiments into that city, and to use force to make them comply, as right and reason has failed.

Glasgow, July 29. Tuesday the Court of Sessions determined the important question, which has been long agitated in this and our neighbouring country, "Whether Authors should have a perpetual, exclusive property in their works, or a limited one." The cause before the Court was a prosecution, brought by a London Book-seller against three Scots Book-sellers, for printing and vending Stackhouse's History of the Bible, a book first published in the year 1732. The cause was argued by the Counsel at the Bar for four days, with much learning, ingenuity and acuteness. The Judges delivered their opinions at great length this day, and by a majority of twelve to one, sustained the defences, and absolved the Defendants from the prosecution brought against them by the London Book-seller. Thus we have at last a solemn determination of our Supreme Court against the perpetual monopoly claimed by Authors, or rather by the Book-sellers of London in their name; a decision, in many respects, important to this kingdom. The trade of Printing in this country, which, by a contrary judgment, must have been almost totally suppressed, may, and probably will, now be carried on to a considerable extent. The exorbitant prices put upon books by the London Monopolizers will be reduced; and from the additional numbers of books that will be printed, and the reduction of the price, the public revenue will be augmented, and the means of knowledge more widely diffused. The Counsel on both sides, in the above question, discovered great learning and ingenuity. Mr. Campbell's information for the Defendants, and also his Speech at the Bar, will be long remembered as masterly performances.

August 19. Thursday last there was a numerous meeting of the Proprietors of the Bank of Douglas, Heron, and Company, at which were present the Duke of Queensberry, the Duke of Buccleugh, Mr. Heron, Mr. Douglas, of Douglas, &c. The Meeting unanimously resolved to dissolve the Company immediately, and to continue the Clerks and Offices at the different branches till November next. The Proprietors appointed a Committee of Noblemen and Gentlemen to manage their affairs at the different branches. Which Committee is to remain in force till November, 1774, and is to manage the business of the Company, and to continue such of the Clerks, &c. at the different branches, after November next, as they shall see necessary for winding up the affairs of the Company. It was also resolved, that any number of the Proprietors, possessing stock to the amount of 5000l. shall have it in their power to call a Meeting of the Proprietors when they think proper, to inspect the proceedings of the Committee, and the affairs of the Company. Some Gentlemen in London having offered to lend the Company a considerable sum of Money, it was agreed to accept of that loan, for paying off their annuities and other debts; and that some of the principal Proprietors should grant heritable security for said loan, for which they are to be indemnified by the Company.

Joseph Banks, Esq; is the Gentleman who is to get the above loan for the Company, which it is said he has generously undertaken, from personal regard to some of the Proprietors.

The Banks at Edinburgh are now receiving the Notes of Douglas, Heron, and Company, in payments at their Offices; they are taken up at their Offices in Air and Dumfries, and the value paid in Notes of the Edinburgh Banks. This measure, we hope, will be productive of good consequences to the credit of the country.

It is said, with what truth we know not, that some Proprietors of the Old Bank at Dumfries, which gave up business some years ago, are to begin a new Bank; but it is believed several of the Gentlemen of this country have now had enough of Banking.

L O N D O N,

August 17. Letters from South-America say, that in that part of the world the seas swarm with Spanish men of war, which come there in order to re-establish the Spaniards in their former possessions in the island of Liconia, out of which they have been drove by the Chileans and Sengles, the natives of that place. The same letters say, that the Spaniards will find a difficult matter to carry their design into execution, as they are a powerful and numerous people, and have fortified the City of Baldivia, and other places, being determined not to live under the Spanish government, having severely felt the cruelty of the Alceides for many years past, which was the real cause of murdering them, to free themselves from the Spanish yoke.

Extract of a letter from Vienna, August 4.

"A treaty is now on the point of conclusion between his Imperial Majesty of Germany, the Emperors of Russia, and the King of Prussia, wherein these said powers promise their mutual guarantee to protect and defend all their dominions, either in or out of Europe, with all their rights and privileges, particularly those of trade, which the said powers respectively enjoy; and if the contracting powers should be attacked or molested in the above particulars, that then the aforesaid parties shall furnish respectively the following succours, six weeks after the demand. His Imperial Majesty of Germany 6000 horse, and 12,000 foot; the Emperors of Russia 5000 horse, and 10,000 foot; and his Prussian Majesty 4000 horse and 8000 foot. But if the party attacked or injured chuses to be supplied with ships of war, or transports, or money, then the other parties shall furnish ships or money, in proportion to the expence of the troops above stipulated. And if the above-said succours are not sufficient to redress the wrongs of the injured party, the contracting powers then agree to furnish more forces, and even to declare war against the aggressor. That the contracting parties shall endeavour to invite other powers, especially Great-Britain, France, and Sweden, to guarantee this treaty. That any dispute arising, respecting the affairs of the kingdom of Poland, shall be decided by the three last mentioned powers. And the contracting parties agree not to furnish the said contingents, in case of a war with either of the last mentioned powers, but each shall act in that respect without the aid of the other."

August 20. By some advices lately received from our Ambassador at Petersburg, it seems that the Russians expect to possess themselves of Constantinople by Christmas. There seems, however, little prospect of this at present, but things that seem impossible to us may to them seem very attainable.

A long struggle, during the whole course of the winter, being indirectly made against Lord North, by the Bloomsbury party (with Lord Gower, who wants to be first Lord of the Treasury, at their head) to no purpose, a direct application was made a few days ago to a Great Personage, whose reply was, "I have the greatest good wishes for my Lord Gower, but the experience I have had of my Lord North's services leaves me under no necessity of making a new trial."

A letter from Copenhagen, dated August 3, says, "The officers of the Russian fleet in our roads, who went on shore, and are at present in this city, were suddenly ordered to go on board their respective vessels, as the whole fleet, commanded by Vice Admiral Bafal, had just received orders to return for Revel, where they are required to be the beginning of next month. The building of new ships, and repairing of old ones, is still carried on with the utmost expedition, and the report still prevails, that our Squadron is actually destined into the Mediterranean in her Imperial Majesty's service."

August 21. A Gentleman, who arrived last Wednesday from Turin, gives an account that the King of Sardinia has augmented his army to 100,000 men, all well trained to arms, which he intends to keep as an army of observation, to watch the motions of the King of Prussia. He further says that, according to all appearance, and the preparations that he saw making in Italy, and those parts of Germany he passed through, it cannot be long before a war will break out amongst those powers, as the King of Prussia is looked upon with a jealous eye, on account of his seizing on part of the dominions of the King of Poland.

August 23. The Emperor of Morocco demanded of our Court the assistance of several engineers and warlike stores for his intended new works, which has been refused. Should a war take place between us and Spain, it is very likely the supply of provisions to Gibraltar will be stopped, which will be of very fatal consequence to us.

Orders are sent to the Tower for 2000 stands of small arms to be got ready for exportation to Jamaica, on government account, with all speed.

By private letters from a very respectable personage at Vienna we are informed, that the Emperor, at the repeated solicitations of his mother, is very willing to resign his usurped claim to, and possession of, territory in Poland, and has communicated his intentions accordingly to the Emperors of Russia, who is as ready to do the same. The only barrier to this act of justice is, we are told, the King of Prussia, who would not listen to the proposal.

By the same advice it is very positively declared, that in case the peace with the Turks succeeds upon the Russian plan, the Emperor will have no trifling accession to his dominions, viz. Moldavia, and a restitution of such provinces, as the Porte had long since taken from the House of Austria.

Extract of a letter from Paris, dated August 14.

"We are assured here that representations have been lately made to the Court of Versailles, by the Ministers of Great Britain and the States General, respecting the naval armament still kept fitted out for sea at Toulon, when the French Ministry assured those two Ministers, that that armament was not intended to act against either of their masters, but was meant to defend the interest of France, which it was apprehended would be soon attacked on the side of the Mediterranean."

By a Gentleman who arrived on Sunday night from France we have undoubted intelligence, that the French are very busy at Breff in getting a large fleet ready, and that they had already nine ships of the line, and four frigates, completely rigged and manned, ready to sail on the shortest notice.

It is an undoubted fact, that the Dutch have received orders for upwards of five hundred tons of shot and shells for the use of the French, half of which, it is said, are for Spain.

Extract of a letter from Hamburg, August 6.

"According to credible advices, Europe will very soon have a crowned head more. The part of Poland possessed by the Austrians will form a kingdom, which is to be given as a dowry to an Austrian Princess, who is to be married to Prince Henry of Prussia, who is to be invested with the dignity of a crown; and in case he should die without issue, his kingdom is to be incorporated to Prussia, by which means the Houses of Austria and Prussia would be entirely united by time, as the Emperor has no issue, and will, in all probability, remain unmarried."

By a letter from a Scotch Officer in the Russian service, to a Merchant in London, dated from the Banks of the Danube, we are well informed, that the Russians, in the several skirmishes with the Turks, have lost upwards of 20,000 men this campaign; and that for want of men, as well as provender, General Romanow was obliged to retrace the Danube, whilst the Turkish army abounded both in men and ammunition of every sort. The Turkish army consisted of more than 150,000 men, whilst the Russian consisted but of 55,000 at most; so that however intrepid their troops were, they could not oppose a host of three to one against them.

Some business, it is said, is now negotiating between the King of Sardinia and the King of Great-Britain. This business our wife Dutch politicians, or rather our wiser English politicians, who date this advice from the Hague, say, may probably be of such a nature, as to enable us to discover the designs and projects of the Courts of France, Spain and Prussia.

We hear that last week the Prussian Ambassador received three different packets from Berlin, which occasioned divers conferences between his Excellency and the Secretaries of State.

It is reported that General Paoli has very recently refused the most flattering offers from the Emperors of Russia.

Though a conciliation has not taken place between a Great Personage and his two brothers, on the report of the Duke of Gloucester's going abroad, the K. sent to him a very wholesome message, desiring that, though he could not yet see him, he would not take a step that might, in all probability, prevent his ever having that satisfaction.

August 24. A correspondent observes, that should the Duke of Richmond go over and reside in North-America, as has lately been suggested, he would soon be the most considerable subject that ever lived in any country, and stand a very good chance for being an E--- in a few years.

It is said that the Colony Agents have been given to understand, that if any further opposition is made to the measures of Government, the several bounties paid for the encouragement of American produce, on their importation to Great Britain, may probably be withdrawn.

August 25. It is expected that, in consequence of the laconic refusal given by a Great Personage to Lord Gower, his Lordship will resign.

We are informed that, in consequence of the Marquis of Kinsale's visit here, a coalition is likely to take place in a sister kingdom, and that the present Lord Lieutenant will be continued in his important office.

The Spaniards are very busy at Ferrol and Carthage, in equipping a large fleet, and great encouragement is given to sailors who enter. Proclamations are issued.

August 26. Yesterday there was a full Board of Admiralty, at which Lord Sandwich assisted, and some fresh instructions were sent to the Commissioners of the different dock-yards, for expediting the men of war intended for the Mediterranean service.

The repeated accounts received by the Ministry, of the great preparations making by the Spaniards, not only in their naval departments, but also in their land forces, which are considerably augmented, has occasioned some fresh instructions to be sent to the Governors of Gibraltar and Minorca, and also to Sir Peter Dennis, Commander of his Majesty's fleet on that station.

The frequency of couriers passing to and from the different Courts of Europe, with the many conferences and cabinet councils held, give reason to think something extraordinary is on the carpet.

An offer has been made on the part of the Porte, highly advantageous to the commerce of these kingdoms, on certain conditions, which are now under consideration; and a resolution is said to be taken, to have and keep up a respectable Squadron in the Mediterranean.

The last letters from Senegal advise, that two of his Majesty's frigates had been sent to Sierra Leone, to make a strict enquiry into several irregularities said to be committed by the French traders, who are become very numerous on that coast; it is further added, that the French ships are all mounted with guns.

The Governors of Jamaica, Gibraltar and Minorca, have received orders to repair to their respective governments within a month from this date.

The Ministry are much embarrassed at this time, how to take an active part in the troubles on the Continent, without risking a war with some of the parties, as the keeping their faith with the Courts of Versailles, Vienna, Petersburg, Berlin and the Porte, seems a matter of much concern, in our present situation.

Orders are given from the War-Office, for three regiments of foot to hold themselves in readiness, to embark on the first notice for New-England.

The known worthiness of the Earl of Dartmouth, gives hopes the difference between the mother country and the colonies, will be amicably adjusted.

Extract of a letter from Amsterdam, August 20.

"By a Scheveling boat, I have an opportunity of sending you this important information, that by a courier arrived last night at the Hague, from Paris, Madame Barré is disgraced. The Choiseul party are triumphant; and war will be declared against England in less than ten days. The H--- and V--- now send orders to sell instantly out of our funds."

"A Marshal of France will leave Paris to-morrow, and command the camp of forty battalions now forming at Lille."

"Another Marshal is appointed to the command of our grand camp. All our officers are posting to their quarters, and we are now chanting the verses of a glorious war, which we regard with the same certainty as fun-rife."

Extract of a letter from the Hague, August 23.

"Authentic advices have been received from Hungary, that the Turks are forming some great designs, which they are determined to execute in the course of the present month, the Porte having absolutely rejected the last propositions made by the Court of Russia. These letters add, that there is a probability of affairs being amicably adjusted, between the republic of Poland and the Court of Vienna, relative to the portion of Poland which falls to the lot of that Court."

It is said that the duty on tea, intended for North-America, is, by order of the treasury, to be paid in London.

The real cause of a Great Personage's illness was, as we are well informed, owing to the naval review. This noble pattern of conjugal affection had possessed herself with so great an idea of danger, during the absence of her Royal Consort, that her mind was continually agitated with anxiety for his safety, inasmuch that sleep was an entire stranger, and it was with much difficulty she could be persuaded to take proper nourishment. It is impossible to describe the mutual instances of regard at their meeting. Altogether it was too much for so delicate a constitution, and an alarming disorder was the consequence; however, we are now assured, that the Physicians entertain the greatest hope of a perfect re-establishment of her health; a circumstance that must give the most heartfelt satisfaction to all well-wishers of this kingdom.

It is determined by the Bill of Rights Society to support the interests of Messrs. Wilkes and Bull on Michaelmas-day next.

Tuesday last died, at his seat at Hagley, in Worcestershire, GEORGE LORD LYTTELTON, Baron Frankley, of an inflammation in his bowels, in the 64th year of his age. His Lordship left one Son, Thomas, now Lord Lytton, and one Daughter, Lucy, married to Lord Valencia, of the Kingdom of Ireland. If the most amiable character can draw a tear from his countrymen, his Lordship truly deserves it: He was a tender husband, a fond father, a true patriot, and a sincere christian.

Extract of a letter from Fort William, in Scotland, dated Aug. 20.

"Three Gentlemen, of the Names of M'Donald, having obtained a Grant of Lands in Albany, have embarked with their Families, and 400 Highlanders, from the Counties of Glenargy, Glenmoriston, Urquhart and Strathglass. The Hardships and Oppressions of different Kinds, imposed upon them by the Landholders, having obliged them to abandon their native Country, to which the Women in particular were very averse, for that if their Farms could but have afforded them Bread and Water, they would have been satisfied to stay at Home."

A letter from Newbury-port, of the 10th Instant, says, "We have lately had our Court-week, when the novel Case of Cæsar

NEW-YORK, October 25.

Friday Morning, the 15th Inst. was distributed about Town, a printed Advertisement, proposing at 12 o'Clock the same Day at the Coffee-House, a Meeting of the inhabitants, to consult and agree upon a proper Manner of signifying their Thanks to the Captains of the London Ships belonging to his Port, and the Merchants to whom they were addressed, for their patriotic Conduct, in refusing to take from the East-India Company, on Freight, a Quantity of Tea, on which a Duty, laid by the British Parliament, was made payable in America on Importation. Notwithstanding the Shortness of the Notice, most of the Merchants, and many other Inhabitants, met at the Time and Place appointed, when the following Address was drawn up, read, and unanimously approved by the Company present:

GENTLEMEN,

YOUR prudent Conduct, in refusing the Freight of the East-India Company's Tea, justly merits the Approbation and Applause of every Well-wisher to the Liberties of this or any other Country.

"The insidious Purpose of levying the Duty in America, and taking off a much greater in England, is equally manifest and detestable, being nothing less than to establish the odious Precedent of raising a Revenue in America. But it is a Happiness to the Inhabitants of this Colony, and we trust to every other on this extensive Continent, that STAMPOFFICERS AND TEACOMMISSIONERS will ever be held in equal Estimation.

"The Tribute, therefore, of our most grateful Thanks is most justly due, and is now hereby most heartily rendered to the truly patriotic Merchants and Masters of Vessels in London, who, by their virtuous Example, contributed so eminently to discountenance a Measure, which ought to be opposed by all good Men, as contrary to every Principle of British Liberty, and therefore cannot but incur the just Indignation and Repentment of the much injured Americans."

On Monday last arrived the ship Pearl, Captain Tucker, in 6 weeks from Fort William, in the Highlands of Scotland, with a great number of very respectable passengers full of health, and ready money to purchase each man his freehold. They are justly esteemed a great acquisition to this province, in some part of which they propose to settle. There are in the whole above 230 souls, all of them, about a single score excepted, of the clan of M'Donald, coming chiefly from famed Lochabar and Glenmuir.

Several Writers in the Boston Papers, of the 14th Instant, express the same Sentiments of the Tea expected from London, as the People of New-York and Philadelphia, whose Conduct they highly approve, and strongly urge their Countrymen to imitate. The Masters of all their London Vessels too, they expect, like those of New-York and Philadelphia, will refuse to bring any Tea to America, while the Duty remains.

Wheat is greatly fallen in England, on Account of the large Supplies from Maryland, and other Parts in America. The very fine Prospects they have of plentiful Crops in Great-Britain has also contributed to reduce the Price.

Five Ships arrived at Lisbon with Wheat from Quebec about the Beginning of September.

PHILADELPHIA, October 27.

The Week before last a very shocking Tragedy happened in Lancaster County, which is related as follows: One Brand, an ancient Man, had lately made his Will, and left the Farm on which he lived to his eldest Son. This appeared a partial Act to his youngest Son, and enraged him to such a Degree, that he quarrelled with his Brother; and one Evening, at Supper, the Dispute about the old Man's Estate got to such a Height, that the youngest Brother ran up Stairs, got a loaded Gun, and shot his Brother through the Heart, of which Wound he instantly died; after this he beat his ancient Mother in a cruel Manner, and set Fire to his Father's Barn, filled with Grain and Hay, which was entirely consumed, and then set Fire to the Mansion-house, but the Flames were extinguished before much Damage was done to it; and, to fill up the Measure of his Iniquity, he cut his own Throat, but the Wound not proving mortal, he was next Day apprehended, and committed to Lancaster Goal.

On Sunday Evening last departed this Life, in the 21st Year of his Age, Mr. DANIEL JENIFER STONE, of Charles County, Maryland, a young Gentleman of a promising Genius, and agreeable Manners.
